XVIII-XIX CENTURY

Constructed in Kingwood with Purpleheart crossbanding, and dressed with superbly cast and chased mercury gilt bronze mounts; rising from tapering legs, with bronze sabots cast as leaves, and atop, an everted bronze collar; the frieze houses a drawer, the whole having a running complex foliate bronze band: the quartered top, showing cube parquetry decoration, separated by protective bronze fillets, and opening to reveal a baize interior framed within a Kingwood border; the top's edges having a cannelure guard border. France, Circa 1870
