

BUTCHOFF

EXCELLENCE IN ANTIQUES

Est.1964

A MID NINETEENTH CENTURY LADY'S TRAVELLING DRESSING CASE

EDWARD, JOHN AND WILLIAM BARNARD

H: 8 in / 20.5 cm | W: 16 in / 40.5 cm | D: 13 in / 32.5 cm

The case is constructed in a finely marked coromandel, with inset brass handles, and brass guard bands to the angles. The hinged lid rises to reveal in the upper section, a drop down document holder, with a mirror to the back; the parcel gilt pieces are engraved with a Viscountess's coronet, probably Charles, 2nd Viscount Hardinge Cornwallis (1822-1894), and inset with turquoises, and comprise a suite of four cut glass jars, a liqueur flask with a fitted cup; the pull-out rear shelf houses seven jars for ink, potions and unguents, the lift out platform has sectional jewellery compartments; over, a pair of hexagonal based silver hall marked candlesticks, a thermometer, button hook, folding ruler, corkscrew, & etc. Hall marked for London, 1850, the makers being Edward, John and William Barnard.

Circa 1850

