A Set of Six 'Wild Rose' Perfume Bottles
By Cristalleries de Baccarat

One of the most refined Art Nouveau offerings by the famous company, the pink overlay glass bottles with a design of wild roses, fruit and foliage on an acid-etched leafy background, with the original faceted stoppers. One with the paper label of Baccarat.
French, circa 1910

This design of dropper bottle, allowing one to dispense drops of perfume onto handkerchiefs or cotton balls, appears in Baccarat catalogues of 1903-1904, as well as 1916.
