A Fine Georgian Sideboard
After the design by George Hepplewhite

Constructed in mahogany of good depth and colour; rising from tapering spade legs; the knee hole centre having a drawer over and flanked by pairs of drawers, all lockable and fitted with ring handles with circular embossed backplates; the platform of bow fronted form.

English, circa 1800

This design appears as plate 62 in Hepplewhite's 'Cabinet maker and Upholsters Guide', of 1794.
